woodwinds and brass
echo the cry of a bird swooping, soaring calling the flutes
to turn notes into feelings to make music magic

as the groping hand obtains its goal
its fulfillment
has only begun
for as each goal is attained another remains

I have so enjoyed our 4 yr. cooperative venture — attempting to make you a star.
Must admit that I have enjoyed your performances on T2H's fair stage. Best of Luck to you & return to visit.

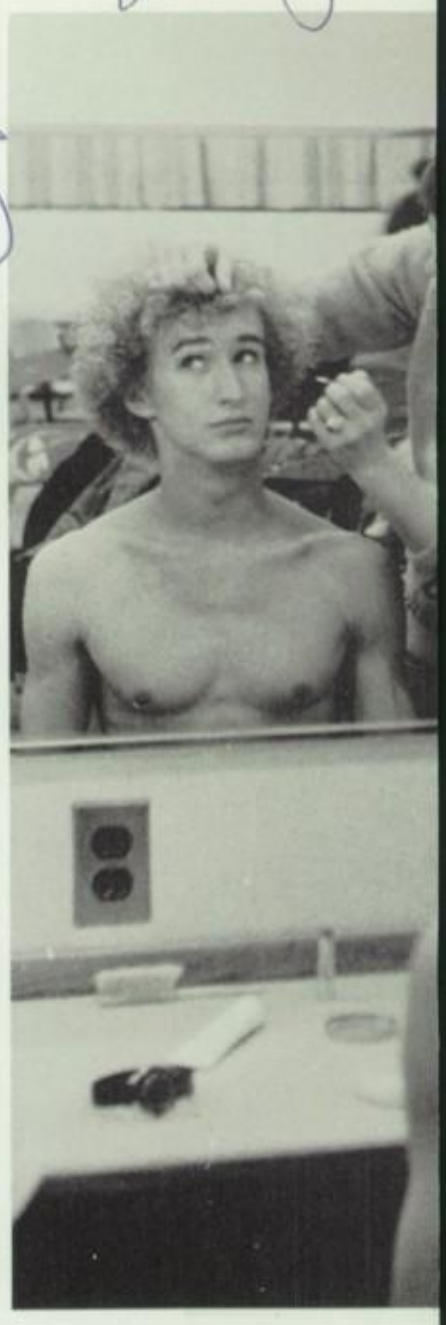
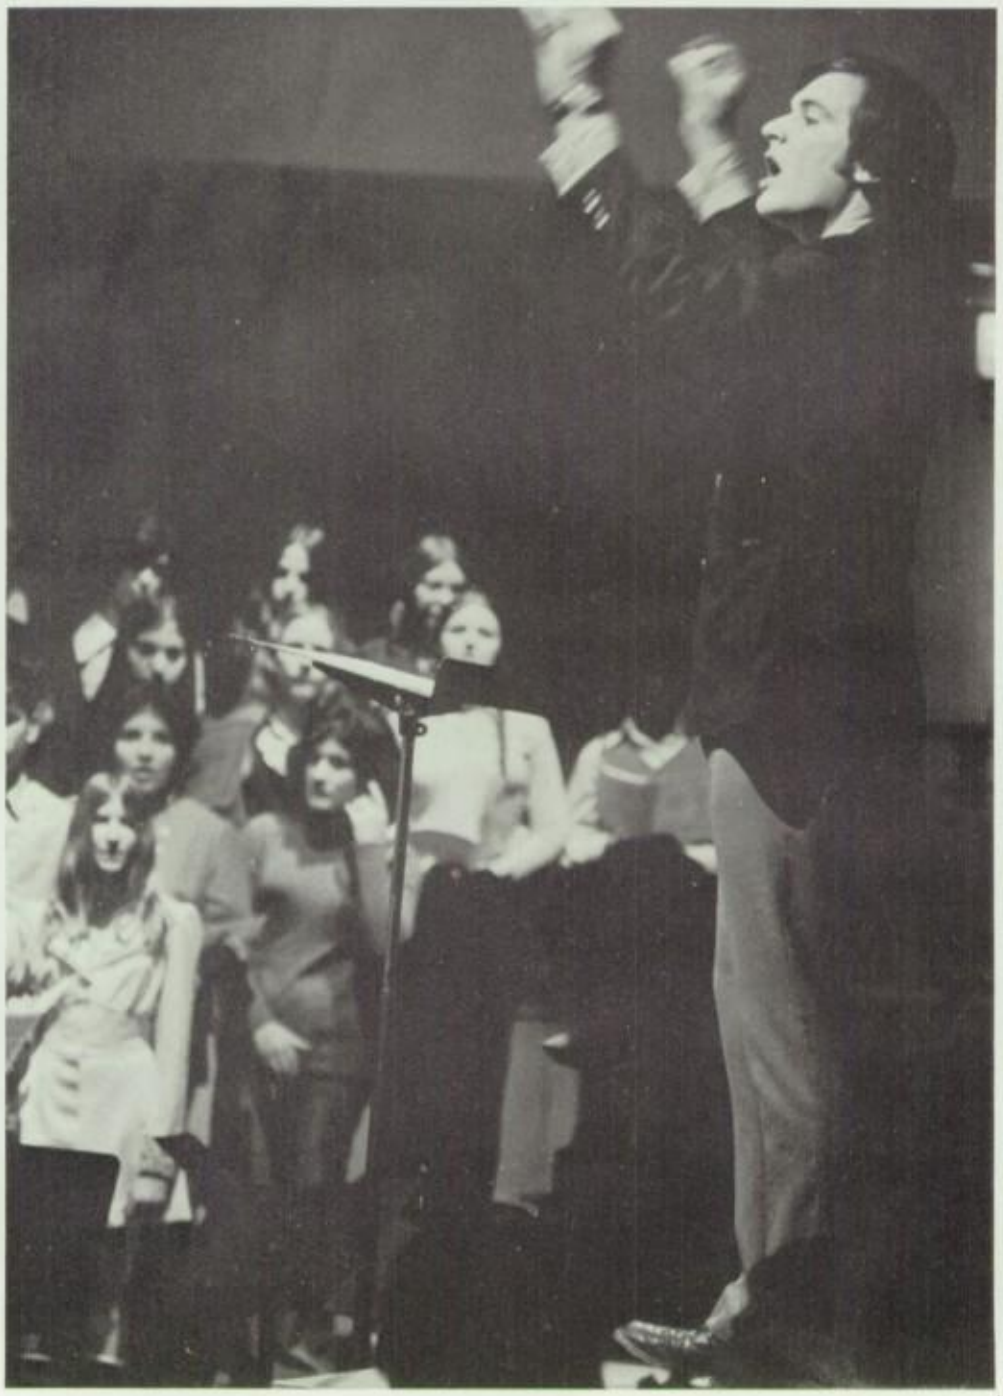
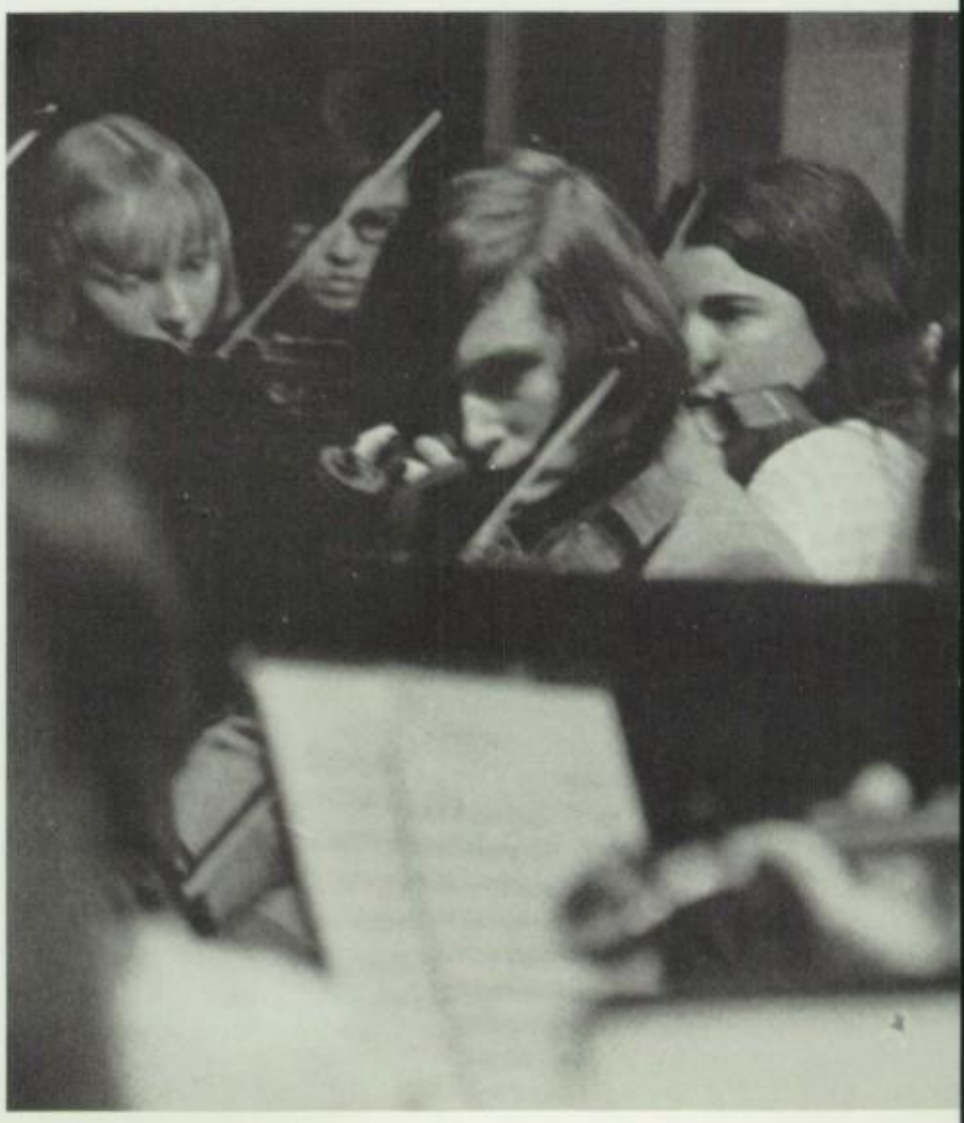
Mike, It's been fun! Remember only the good times. I'm finding it table sometime if your passing by. Stay high and be good. Peace & be groovy Love Wendy



Hard to think of anything to say. Do Drop by my Kitchen





Dear Michael,

I'm so glad that I got to know you this year even though it was through that ridiculous play, "Boys From Syracuse." Remember, "just call me Heidi" and ~~~~ ——

I love you —
Barry

you're out there straining, fighting to survive;
and it's not that you really love splitting your guts, or the sweat and the grime,
the hours of practice,
getting and bearing it;
but for that one brief moment, that second when you know that you've won.

a yellowed paper,
on a dusty shelf.
just there, my attention focused.
with ragged edges and grimy pages i read the words in print. it said "in memoriam"
and i knew the person long ago.
but now with soft remembrance my eyes began to swell.
for i realized how long ago it really was,
and how i had forgotten.
and i knew what i had seen and what i had done.
so on that day,
with my hand upon the shelf i left,
and my fingers left marks in the dust, like footprints in the snow of someone long ago . . .
